Health Safety and Environmental Policy

AGSL has a responsibility to protect our two most important resources: Our Employees and Our Environment. The management will provide all necessary Training, Equipment and systems to prevent Occupational Injuries and illness. Health and safety of our employees are a priority and promotion of the highest standards for awareness will be provided and followed at all levels. The improvement of Safety standards will be continuous and will be followed and promoted to all suppliers and customers.

We shall comply with all relevant legislations, regulations and agreements it has entered into and also set and measure targets for improvement, appraise and report performance.

Environmental protection for our Principals is through continual design-improvement, for producing the most environmentally acceptable products using environmentally friendly raw materials and processes. Our responsibility will not only be restricted to the products and processes used in Our Company, but we will also work closely with our customers and vendors to ensure the same.

This is a Priority area for the management and the same will be reviewed regularly to ensure that the standards are the best in the industry.
